Jenny Blanc is an award winning practice set up 17 years ago operating from both the UK and Barbados. Jenny is involved in every aspect of each project, from the initial brief through to completion.

When renovating this 15th Century lodge, she took as her starting point the need to preserve and enhance the building's character; while at the same time create a luxurious yet comfortable family home. Existing features were preserved with the design and furnishings blending with the overall look and period style of the property.

Traditional limewash paints, rich country-style fabrics, antique furniture, accessories and natural materials gave life back to the historic building that was once a family home for Beatrix Potter.

This literary link provided inspiration for a playroom and nursery, where characters and colours from her books and illustrations adorn furnishings, floors and walls. Exquisite hand-painted woodland scenes, influenced by the same stories cover the secret back staircase, creating a unique fairytale setting.

Throughout the house the décor is light and fresh, designed to create a feeling of space. Comfort and warmth are key for the living areas, which are sumptuously furnished; the master suite and guest rooms are individually designed and bathrooms are fitted in traditional style; the large homely kitchen has a rustic feel and the dining room is a dramatic mix of rich colours and textures.
